Great Wolf Lodge Pocono Mountains Debuts First of its Kind Interactive Waterslide

Slideboarding Gaming Experience Is All Wet

Madison, WI (June 27, 2015) – Today, Great Wolf Lodge, the premier indoor waterpark resort in the Pocono Mountains, officially opened its new waterslide experience, Slideboarding, to excited resort guests. To help with the festivities, the resort’s own Wiley the Wolf helped cut the “Goggle Garland” after the first father/son team came splashing down from their competitive ride.

Slideboarding is a unique water slide attraction, and the first of its kind on the East Coast. The fun experience begins when riders choose their Slideboard and enter their player name – or avatar – at the attraction’s entrance. From there, the interactive journey begins with a video game that is truly all wet.

Before sliding into action, riders choose their favorite type of music from an expansive playlist, and then take their position on the unique Slideboard. From there, the transition from passive rider to active player begins. Throughout the slide, LED lights flash and light up, encouraging the player to click corresponding colored buttons on the handles of the Slideboard. The game experience ends with a splash and the eager anticipation of earning the day’s high score.

The Great Wolf Lodge Pocono Mountains has two Slideboarding attractions in its indoor waterpark. Later this summer, Great Wolf Lodge Williamsburg, in Virginia, will also debut a Slideboarding attraction for its guests.
